PROFILE

Multidisciplinary Product Designer working across UX, UI, visual design and digital experiences. I translate complex ideas and business problems into user flows, wireframes, interfaces, prototypes and working digital products. My visual-design background gives me a strong foundation in typography, hierarchy, composition and visual storytelling, while my recent product work spans marketplaces, productivity tools, e-commerce and digital platforms. I also have hands-on experience taking designs into frontend prototypes and collaborating with developers to bring products into production.
